

Statement of Ingredients of Feed

The New Zealand King Salmon Co Ltd hereby certifies that salmon (Oncorhynchus tshawytscha) that is produced on the farms owned by the Company are fed with imported extruded feed produced by major international suppliers.

The ingredients vary depending on price and availability but the underlying philosophy of The New Zealand King Salmon Company is to ensure the very best of raw materials are used, especially fishmeal and fish oil.

- Poultry Protein meals and oil
- Fishmeal
- Fish Oil
- Vegetable Protein meals
- Wheat/Starches
- Mammalian meals
- Vitamins and Minerals
- Astaxanthin

Following an audit of our major feed supplier, Skretting, we are now the world's first King salmon producer and the first salmon producer in Australasia to achieve four-star status from the Global Aquaculture Alliance. Four-star is the highest designation in the BAP third-party certification program, indicating that a product originates from a BAP-certified feed mill, hatchery, seafarm and processing plant.

Our feed suppliers certify that our feed is 100% wholesome, complies with stringent food safety requirements and is non-GMO.

In line with our commitment to sustainability, we are net producers of fish protein and fish oil; the salmon we harvest contain more fish protein and fish oil than we use in our feed.

We use a balanced extruded diet. Each formulation is made to best suit the particular life stage the fish is at regarding size and time of year. This gives best performance in terms of growth rate, feed efficiency and flesh quality. The main change in formulation through the life of the fish is the ratio of oil to protein. As a fish grows it requires less protein and more oil and the amount of astaxanthin required falls.

By test the proximate analysis of our major feed formulation is:

- |                |     |
|----------------|-----|
| • Protein      | 38% |
| • Oil          | 26% |
| • Carbohydrate | 23% |
| • Moisture     | 8%  |
| • Ash          | 5%  |
